RACE TO SAVE THE PLANET!

In Terraqua, a world that is 95% covered in water, the eco-technology genius Wyatt Whale has organized the Whale Cup, a drones race competition taking place in all parts of the region to determine who will be his future apprentice.

Team Tiki, representing Nui Island, is determined to win the competition: there's Corto, the daredevil drone pilot; Mouse, the young but talented mechanic; Enki, the clever engi-nerd; and of course Oro, the energy source that brings their drone to life!

Each race is set in a different location, and having the best pilot does not always mean having the best chance to win-- the teams need to analyze the circuit and adapt to its natural environment. From using pistil to avoid giant, drone-eating flowers to creating a drone shield out of seashells, Team Tiki will pull out all the tricks and tenacity they have to compete against their fierce opponents.

But the Tikis are not only after glory-- becoming Wyatt Whale's new apprentices is also their only chance to access the newest eco-technology and find a way to prevent their island from sinking into the ocean. Failure isn't an option: the fate of the Tiki's home relies on their victory!
