In Terraqua, a world that is 95% covered in water, the eco-technology genius Wyatt Whale has organized the Whale Cup, a drones race competition taking place in all parts of the region to determine who will be his future apprentice.

From using pistil to avoid giant, drone-eating flowers to creating a drone shield out of seashells, Team Tiki will pull out all the tricks and tenacity they have to compete against their fierce opponents.

But the Tikis are not only after glory-- becoming Wyatt Whale's new apprentices is also their only chance to access the newest eco-technology and find a way to prevent their island from sinking into the ocean. Failure isn't an option: the fate of the Tiki's home relies on their victory!

Iqbal, an impish and joyful kid, lives in a impoverished village with his brother Aziz and his mother Ashanta. He spends his days playing football with his friends, drawing and taking care of his cute little goat.

The adventure begins when the family doctor prescribes Iqbal's sick brother an expensive medication. Iqbal- who wants to help his family, especially his brother- decides to travel to the nearby city of Mapour to sell his goat and raise money for the medicine. Unfortunately, nothing goes as planned...
